MEETING CLOSES

Methodist Church Has Revival Full Of Rich Blessings--Rev. Mr. Hanes Brings Cheering And Comforting Sermons.

The Methodist meeting which closed last night was a revival of religion in the church. The members were never so refreshed and were given a new hold on Christian life. The Rev. Mr. Hanes preached the most spiritual and practical sermons that could be preached. He was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Springfield, the singer, and the Rev. Mr. Lewis the pastor.

Testimonies from Sunday School scholars and Leaguers, church members and children were given at the day services which made them the sweetest and most helpful hours of the meeting. The number of converts will be given next week.

The music was a beautiful feature of the meeting. Eldred Babbage played the cornet and Libou Smith the violin. The young people of the church were as faithful in attendance as the older members.

The Cloverport Baptist Sunday school has passed the hundred mark and is still climbing. Their aim is two hundred by September the first. A new blackboard has been purchased for use in the school and new song books have been received and were used Sunday for the first time.

The Children's Day services will be held Sunday night at the Lucile Memorial church. Rev. Mr. Knott McNeen will preach there Sunday morning.

The Baptist church will begin their protracted meeting the fourth Sunday in this month. Bro. J. T. Lewis, a former and much loved pastor, will aid Bro. Cottrell in the meeting. His many friends are looking forward with great pleasure to his coming and to the privilege of hearing him preach in Cloverport again. A great meeting is anticipated.

Pastor Cottrell was in Louisville last Tuesday in attendance upon a meeting of the State Board of Missions of which he is a member. Much business was accomplished. Among other things provision was made for the employment of two more State Sunday school men. This gives Secretary Entzinger three field workers. An effort will be made to reach every Baptist S. S. in the State within the next two years to organize them for the most efficient work.

The Missionary Society of the Baptist church met with Mrs. Cordrey Monday in their monthly meeting. This Society has done much in its long and successful history and is planning larger things for the future.

Pastor Cottrell is making a systematic visitation of Cloverport with a view to taking a religious census. When the canvass is completed he will give to the public through the News the results of his findings.

Rev. and Mrs. Cottrell took their two year old daughter, Dorothy, to Owensboro three weeks ago to undergo an operation under the direction of Drs. Stirman and Gillim. The operation was successful, but has been slow in healing. Mrs. Cottrell remained in Owensboro where Dorothy has been under the care of Dr. Stirman for three weeks. She is now well and Mrs. Cottrell returned to Cloverport yesterday.

Pastor Cottrell says he is delighted with Cloverport and appreciates the cordial reception he has received by the Cloverport people generally. He feels encouraged at the outlook of his work here and wants his life and ministry to count for the most in the elevation of our citizenship.

Takes Place Saturday

The resignation of P. D. Plank, Master Mechanic of the L. H. & St. L. shops, of this place, will go into effect Saturday. Mr. Plank has held this office for more than fifteen years, and will be succeeded by his assistant, James B. Randall, who is a man old in the service of the company.

Little Girls' Injured Arms.

Lida May English fell while playing Thursday and badly fractured her left arm. Little Miss Vera Jolly also broke her arm the same day.

MR. NELSON

Finds Personal Work The Best Way To Promote Christianity. Says A Man's Heart Has To Be Broken Before It Can Be Turned.

Lee Nelson, a preacher and machinist, who has a place at the shops in this city, took a deep interest in the Methodist meeting. Mr. Nelson is the happiest type of a Christian, although he declares that a man's heart must be broken before it will turn to a Christian heart. He is a fat, jolly fellow and everybody who sees him could not help admiring his disposition.

He makes an effort every day at his work particularly to persuade men to live the thoughtful, reverent and Christian life. Recently, someone was swearing in his presence while at work, and he reminded the young man of one of the ten commandments "Thou shalt not swear." He has not broken it before him since, and he and Mr. Nelson are the best of friends.

The preacher machinist hopes to bring his family from Evansville and make Cloverport his home.

CREWS-CRACROFT

Wedding Takes Place In St. Mary's Church Of The Woods. Bridal Guests Entertained. Couple To Live At Flaherty

McQuady, June 6. (Special)—That "all the world loves a lover" was again demonstrated by the large crowd which, despite the early hour, gathered at the church of St. Mary of the Woods, on June 4, to witness the marriage ceremony of Miss Nellie Crews, of McQuady and Mr. Charles Cracroft, of Flaherty. Mr. Fidelio Brickey, the popular clerk of P. Sherran & Bro., and Miss Annie McGary, a charming belle of McQuady, were the waiters. Paul and Eloise Crews, small nephew and niece of the bride, were the flower children. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Lillian Sheeran with her usual grace and talent.

The bride was lovely dressed in a clinging gown and veil of sheer white. The groom looked his handsomest in the conventional black.

Quietly, solemnly, and beautifully was the sacred ceremony performed by Rev. J. F. Knue. Two more lives were united for "better or worse."

After a delightful repast served at the home of the bride they left for Flaherty, their future home, amid a shower of rice and good wishes. Here's wishing them a fair breeze and smooth sailing across the matrimonial sea.

FOR PRESIDENT

WOODROW WILSON

From the New York World

Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey should be the Democratic candidate for President.

That is the opinion of The World. That is the counsel of the New Jersey primaries. That is the logic of the situation.

It is time for facts and not for theories. Jackson Harmon might prove a strong candidate in New York and Ohio, but his nomination has been rendered impossible. Champ Clark would be a hopelessly beaten candidate in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. He could do no better than Mr. Bryan, who has lost these States three times and would lose them again if nominated. Oscar W. Underwood is of Presidential size, but he has been untested as a candidate in the North and is an unknown quantity to most of the voters. Woodrow Wilson alone has a record of continuing victory in the section in which victory is essential to Democratic success.

What other Democratic candidate could poll so many votes in the great debatable States of the East—New York, New Jersey and Connecticut?

What other Democratic candidate, who could carry these States, would be so strong in the great debatable States of the Middle West—Ohio and Indiana?

What other Democratic candidate could make so powerful an appeal to hundreds of thousands of thoughtful independent voters without whose support no Democratic President can be elected?

What other Democratic candidate could so well stem the rising tide of Rooseveltism, which now threatens to engulf representative government and republican institutions?

What other Democratic candidate would so fully measure up to the ideals of the sane radicals and the sane conservatives upon whose joint action the result of the election will hinge?

The World hitherto has withheld its active support from all candidates. It advocated an open convention at Baltimore, and advised its Democratic friends to await the action of the Republicans at Chicago. The open convention is assured. The measure of all the candidates has been taken. The situation is clarified and further delay is unnecessary.

Like a twentieth-century Genghis Khan, Theodore Roosevelt, with his horde of prairie Populists and Wall street Socialists, is sweeping down upon the Republican National Convention. Mr. Taft seems as powerless to check him as the degenerate Romans were to check the descent of the Goths and the Vandals. The historic party of Lincoln and Seward and Chase and Sumner and Conkling and Chandler and Blaine and Garfield and Harrison and Sherman and McKinley is apparently in the death throes. This is the twilight of the gods, and the Democratic party must rise not only to its opportunity but to its responsibility.

How can it do its duty better than to match sanity against lunacy; statesmanship against demagoguery; the historian against the Rough Rider; the educator of public opinion against the debaucher of public opinion; the first term against the third term; the tariff-reformer against the stand-patter; the man who would prosecute trust magnates against the man who protects trust magnates; the man with clean hands against the man who draws his campaign fund from Wall street; the supporter of constitutional government against the champion of personal government; law against lawlessness; Americanism against Mexicanism; the Republic against the dictatorship?

Who better represents these issues than Woodrow Wilson? Who is better qualified than Woodrow Wilson to appeal to the intelligence and common sense of the American people against the most cunning and adroit demagoguery that modern civilization has produced since Napoleon III?

Who would stand a better chance of election in this great national crisis?

Let us look at the facts:

It will require 266 electoral votes to elect a President. The so-called Southern States, including Maryland and Missouri, have 175 votes. Assuming that Arizona will go Democratic too, practically any Democratic candidate for President can count on 178 electoral votes, but 88 more are necessary to victory. Where can these 88 be found?

It is folly to look for them west of the Mississippi River. The West is in the midst of another revival of Populism. In Theodore Roosevelt it has found a new substitute for its gospel of free silver. He is the political reincarnation of James B. Weaver, Mary E. Lease, Jerry Simpson and Peffer. He is the heaven-born ratio of 16 to 1 in a still more fascinating form. It is idle to think that any Democrat could appeal to the West against Roosevelt. It is idle to think that anybody who is not a far more masterful and dangerous demagogue than Roosevelt could command the support of the Populists who now call themselves Republican Progressives.

The Democratic party, if it is to win the election, and safeguard American institutions, must unite the East and the South as Tilden did in 1876. The candidate must carry New York with its 45 electoral votes. He must carry New Jersey with its 14 electoral votes. He must carry Connecticut with its 7 electoral votes. To lose these States is to give Roosevelt a walkover. To win these States is to win not only 66 of the 88 electoral votes that are needed, but in all probability it is to win Ohio with 24 votes; it is to win Indiana with 15 votes, which is the historical political ally of New York and New Jersey; it is to give the Democratic party an opportunity of victory in Massachusetts with its 18 votes, and to bring Delaware with its 3 votes back into the Democratic column. In other words, it is to elect a Democratic President of the United States.

It is in the East that Democratic victory must be won. It is in the East that Rooseveltism must be overthrown. It is the East that must save the country from a third term and all it implies. For that reason The World regards Woodrow Wilson as the strongest candidate the Democratic party can nominate.

The New Jersey primaries were a vital test of his political strength not only in New Jersey but in New York. They proved that local opposition to him is largely a myth. Although the campaign against him was well organized and abundantly financed, it failed miserably. He swept the State, and the only four delegates he lost were lost through the personal efforts of James Smith, Jr., a political boss whom Gov. Wilson kept out of the United States Senate. In a section of the country where Wall street and the political bosses are most powerful, Gov. Wilson demonstrated that he has the confidence of the rank and file of the party, without which any man's candidacy is futile. He demonstrated as well that his political strength is the kind of strength that is essential to Democratic success in the vitally necessary States of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

So much for that.

During Gov. Wilson's public career The World has been compelled to take issue with him on many questions. We regarded with grave misgivings his sudden conversion to the initiative and referendum, reversing the principles of a lifetime. We regretted his apparent disposition to imitate Mr. Bryan's sweeping charges against the so-called Money Trust without supporting these charges with facts and specifications. We regretted his long campaign tours, his too eager chase after the nomination, and certain symptoms of instability which threatened to weaken his public usefulness. We have not hesitated to warn him when we thought he was going astray, and shall not hesitate to do so again in the future.

But Gov. Wilson's elements of weakness are vastly overbalanced by his elements of strength. He has proved his political courage and his fearlessness. He has proved himself sound on tariff reform. He has proved himself sound on the Sherman law. He has proved himself sound on corporation control. He has proved himself sound on trust prosecutions and personal guilt. He has proved himself sound against government by Wall street plutocracy. He has proved himself sound on the independence of the judiciary. He has proved himself sound on the fundamental principles of constitutional government. He has proved that he is instinctively and temperamentally a Democrat. He has proved himself a free man who cannot be bulldozed by bosses or influenced against his conviction even by his personal friends. This is the sort of man who ought to be President.

Gov. Wilson has had more public experience than Grover Cleveland had when he was elected President. He is better known to the rank and file of the party than Samuel J. Tilden was when he was nominated for President. The World believes that he would be a progressive constitutional President whom the American people could trust and for whom they would never have cause to apologize.

We appeal to all Democrats to consider this matter soberly and thoughtfully and without prejudice. We appeal to the delegates to the Democratic National Convention to be swayed by no considerations except those of principle and the public welfare. We appeal to Mr. Bryan to throw his great political influence upon the side of Gov. Wilson and aid the Democratic party to meet adequately this great crisis in the Nation's history. He has the most brilliant opportunity for disinterested, patriotic leadership that has come to any American of his generation, and he has before him in Theodore Roosevelt a striking example of the meaning of ruthless and unyielding ambition.

It is not in behalf of Woodrow Wilson that The World urges his nomination. It is not merely in behalf of the Democratic party as a party. It is in behalf of the American people. It is in behalf of American institutions. It is in behalf of the Republic. It is in behalf of the Nation that is now confronted with the gravest menace that it has faced since the obliteration of human slavery and the overthrow of secession.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Will Be Organized In Cloverport Soon. Want Every Woman In Cloverport And Its Vicinity To Join

Plans are on foot to organize a Woman's Club for Cloverport and after the meeting at the Methodist church is closed, definite steps will be taken. More information will be given in the News next week about it. If you are interested, just send your name to E. S., in care of The Breckenridge News.

Entertainments will be given to meet the club's expenses and no dues will be assessed on the members.

Funeral Of Mrs. Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Perkins, Messrs.

James Cordrey, Courtney Babbage, Jr., and Lee Nelson, of this place, attended the funeral of Mrs. Wyatt Bush in Louisville Thursday morning.

Mrs. Bush died at St. Mary Elizabeth's Hospital Tuesday afternoon. Besides her husband, she leaves two young daughters, Mary and Dorothy Bush.

Mrs. Mary Ryan Muir Dead.

Mrs. Mary Ryan Muir, wife of Mr. Burt Muir, died in Louisville Thursday morning. She had been ill a long time. Mrs. Muir was the daughter of Mrs. Annie Ryan and the sister of Mrs. Rose Stader. Besides her husband, she leaves a son, David Owen Hall. The burial took place in Louisville Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Muir spent all of her childhood and girlhood here and worked eight years in The Breckenridge News office. She was a young woman and had true and loving friends.

BRECKENRIDGE FOLKS

To Organize A Breckenridge County Society Club In Louisville Next Fall--Entertain Last Week For Mrs. Wolf.

Mrs. D. W. Fairleigh and Mrs. Eliza Long entertained at their homes in Louisville two different afternoons last week in honor of Mrs. George Wolf. Their guests were mostly all former Breckenridge county people, who are making plans to organize a Breckenridge County Club in Louisville next fall.

Called To Corbin

Mrs. W. H. Holt, of Irvington, was called to Corbin Monday, on account of the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. Wallace.

CLOVERPORT WINS SATURDAY'S GAME

At The West End Park--Breckenridge County Team Defeated By A Score 7 to 5--The Visitors Played Well In The First Innings.

DILLON MADE FIRST SCORE.

Cloverport defeated the Breckenridge Normal team from Hardinsburg Saturday afternoon by the score 7 to 5. The result was in doubt until the sixth inning when the local team made six scores. The line up was as follows: Breckenridge: Dillon, S. S.; Macy, C. F.; Lyddan, 3rd. B.; Brown, 2nd. B.; Curtis, 1st. B.; Osborne, R. F.; Thomas C.; Shellman, L. F.; Basham, P., Taylor, extra man. Cloverport, Polk, S. S.; Sanders, S. B.; Lyons, L. F.; Furrow, P.; Wilson, C.; Lewis, R. F.; Gibson, 1st. B.; Graham, 3rd. B.; B. Tucker, C. F.

Cloverport and Hardinsburg will play next Saturday at Hardinsburg.

NOTES

Mr. Henry Yeager, of Cloverport, and Mr. Arthur Beard, of Hardinsburg, were the umpires.

o o o

Dewey Nation makes a dandy little mascot for Cloverport.

o o o

The fifteen year old Pat Dillon, Jeff's brother, is a snappy little player on the Breckenridge Team.

o o o

Murray Brown is a pert batter.

o o o

Furrow, Cloverport's pitcher, is the local team's winner. He can be depended on for twirling victory. He pitches a hard ball with ease and grace.

o o o

The West End Park had a city appearance Saturday afternoon with three machines lined up at the entrance.

o o o

Leonard Gregory, manager of the Cloverport team, was at the gate. He has a pleasing manner that greets one into the park and makes you have a "glad I came" feeling.

o o o

Judge Henry Moorman, Walter Moorman, Rob Moorman, Franklin Kincheloe, Jeff Hook and many enthusiasts were here from the county seat.

o o o

Hardinsburg does not play Sunday games and Cloverport likes Saturday games. The day will come when the Cloverport team will look at the Sabbath games in the same light that Billy Sunday did.

o o o

Cloverport must get enthused over base-ball. Its a great game.

Selling Old Clothes

There is a young woman in town who always has good luck in selling clothes that she does not want to use any longer for herself. For instance, if anyone comes to her to buy second-handed garments, she always puts them in their best shape. Old shoes she always cleans well and polishes them, and they bring the price they are really worth. The same idea can be applied to dresses by cleaning and pressing them.

Father Henry To Louisville

A class of about 100 received the first communion at St. Patrick's church in Stilton Sunday, which was Father Henry's last services there. It was in the nature of a concession to Father Henry and his beloved young people that he remained for this final service before going to his new work in Louisville.—E'town News.

YOUNG WOMAN

Has A Business Of House-Wrecking—Miss Helen F. Kolba, Just About Of Age, Follows Her Father's Trade In New York.

If you had dropped Friday afternoon into the Equal Franchise headquarter, 8 East Thirty-seventh street, or the rooms of the Woman's Political Union at 46 East Twenty-ninth street or the meeting place of the Woman's Suffrage party, Thirty-fourth street and Madison avenue, probably some fluff-haired young woman with expressive eyes would have assured you that there are now no lines of work in which women do not compete on an equal basis with the men. And then as you left any of those places you might have stopped for a minute or so to watch the workmen tearing down some old houses near Fifth avenue and Thirty third street. In the boss of the fifty-strong destruction gang at work there you would have seen a confirmation of the suffragist's statement—a woman house wrecker.

And not a suffragette at that. She is Miss Helen F. Kolba, just old enough to vote if she had the chance, and rather good looking. She is a real boss, too, with five years' experience under her father, Morris Kolba, who taught her the business.

How does she work? About as any other house wrecker would. Dressed in a dust-stained short skirt and coat, her hair white with mortar and plaster, she directs her men, with the advantage that she can tell them what she wants in Polish, Russian and German as well as English.

She lives at 337 East Fourth street. To get there you must thread your way through the hundreds of pushcarts and thousands of children that overflow into the streets of the lower East Side until

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work. Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys must, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Piquette, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

you almost reach the river. It's an ordinary tenement house, 357 East Fourth and it will do you no good knocking at the doors on the first floors, for the dwellers don't speak a word of English. But perhaps the little girl with big eyes and long black curls will help you out. She "lives by the top floor yet," and Helen Kolba lives right below.

So you climb four flights of muscle twisting stairs, almost pitch dark, turn to the left and you have reached the Kolba flat, five rooms for Mr. and Mrs. Kolba and their nine children, of whom Helen, the house wrecker, is the oldest. You almost forget the dismal climb when you get there, for darkness and dilapidation have stopped at the door.

In the Kolba parlor is a long mirror, a mahogany upright piano. The sideboard in the dining-room is the last word in elaborate carving, and what you thought was a music cabinet proves on a second look to be a pretentious icebox. A glance through a partly opened door reveals an immaculate bed.

As a visitor came there one of the Kolba children was playing the piano and singing, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty." Then Mrs. Kolba stopped supper cooking long enough to tell how they were all Russian Poles and had come to this country thirty years ago. Helen was not home yet, the mother said. She had to stay late to figure out the men's time cards and the father was at his business, too.

Helen started to help her father when she was 15 years old, but had a business now of her own. Did she like it? Yes she liked it fine, the mother explained, apparently not considering that her daughter's calling was anything unusual in American feminine occupations. Was she a suffragette? No, she was too busy for that. How about vacations? Yes, she took vacations between jobs, the mother said.

"But wouldn't you rather live in the suburbs or the country, now you can afford it, than here where it is so hot," the visitor ventured. "Oh, no," put in a 12-year old Miss Kolba, "the children have to go to school and you can't educate children in the country."—New York Sun.

Rockefeller's Income $126,000 A Day.

When it developed in the suit now being tried in New York of Henry Clay Pierce against the Standard Oil Company that the fortune of John D. Rockefeller now amounted to $900,000,000, students of statistics began to figure out just what that meant. The result is startling. It speaks for itself. This is the way it figures out:

John D. Rockefeller's wealth	$900,000,000
Income per year at 5 per cent	45,000,000
Income per day (Sundays included)	126,000
Income every hour of every day	5,300

To get rid of his income Mr. Rockefeller would have to spend every minute of every day in the year $87 50.—Chicago Examiner.

A sprained ankle may as a rule be cured in from three to four days by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle. For sale by All Dealers.

The Man I Love.

The man I love must want me and only me above everything and everybody else as I shall want him. He must make me believe he would never lie to me as I would never lie to him. He must make me feel that the sea or the desert would be home if he were there with me—that there is no such thing as loneliness for him or me in life with our love between us and no comradeship for either of us in the world without each other. That's what love means to me!—Exchange.

Salt River Bridge.

Elizabethtown, Ky., June 6.—The construction of the Salt River bridge, at West Point, is now under full headway. A cofferdam 12x31 feet and 28 feet in depth on the Hardin county side has been completed, and the construction company began driving piles in the cofferdam this morning. A similar cofferdam is now being made, and after the piles have been driven the cofferdams will be filled with cement, upon which the piers will be erected.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by All Dealers.

His All Sufficient Grace.

Pret not because thy growth hath been All dwarfed and crooked in His sight! Lo, He hath touched thee! Now begin To put forth leafage fair and bright! His grace sufficeth for thy need, And He can make thee beautiful still, Despite thy barrenness. Only feed On Him, and let Him do His will! All worthless branches He'll displace, And nourish tender stem and root, Till thou dost show His loving grace, And bring forth perfect flower and fruit.

Making Good In Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen May and her mother, Mrs. Crosson, are living in Lexington where he is the head boiler maker for the C. & O. railway company. Mrs. May was here Thursday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter O'Neil. Mrs. May says she believes in having a home and they still keep a flat in Louisville and will call that home until they go to house-keeping in Lexington. The old May homestead on Second and Clover streets in this city was bought by Mr. and Mrs. May.

THE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION

We have received the following letter from Mr. Hambleton in regard to the Cemetery Association. Mrs. George Jordan, of this city, has also expressed her desire and offered support for organizing the association. Let us hear from others.

"I have read your article in the News and it is splendidly done, and I can see no reason why it should not meet with ready and willing responses as well as liberal offerings from all. I know of no cause that speaks better for the living than loving remembrance and care for the dead. If I may offer a suggestion, let there be a committee of nine. Three from each church—Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian. From this committee of the whole let there be a committee of one each (three) make a monthly committee to look after the work each month, say from April to October six months. In that way each member of the committee would only serve twice a year. During the winter months little work being required. Understand the trustees of the cemetery are going to expend some money shortly and with the funds from both sources, in a few years Cloverport should have a cemetery which would be the pride of every citizen and a comfort to relatives at a distance to know their dead are being cared for properly.

"You may put my name down as one of twenty persons to start with at $5. Once the movement is started I know the ladies of Cloverport too well to think of failure or even letting the work go down in the least. And as the work progresses I am sure they will find a way to make it permanent.

Thinking you for courtesies shown, also for the generous offer of your paper for the cause, I am,

Yours truly,
J. D. Hambleton.

EXCITING ADMIRATION

Wonderful what admiration a little flower had near the side-walk will attract. Every passer-by either gives it a pleasing glance or an admiring word. We owe the public something that is beautiful—if it is only a vase of flowers in the window. A thing of beauty thrills a person with delight, makes one forget the petty annoyances in his round of duties. A clean store and office, a swept pavement and a pretty yard brightens life and makes it restful and beautiful. Tear down old fences, out-houses and barns that are eye sores to your neighbors, and their absence will excite admiration that is wholesome and delightful.

A LITTLE AHEAD OF US

Mr. Frank Weaver of Cane Creek, this county, made our heart exceedingly glad last Saturday by presenting us with a fine, large, juicy country ham.—London Echo.

Dr. Floyd Gilliatt, the veterinarian, is a valuable man to have in our community, and his talk to stock owners through our advertising columns this week is worthy much consideration. We believe greater care should be given to the horses, cattle and domestic animals in Breckinridge county. How many of us ever think of the teeth of a horse except when we want to know his age? Keeping the horses teeth in proper condition should not be neglected. Dr. Gilliatt is doing the right thing in calling notice to this; he has a great work before him. We are glad that he sees he can remind men of the necessity of stock denistry through our paper.

It is very important that all subscriptions should be paid promptly to keep our paper running and our credit up. The postal sent you gives date of expiration. Let it have your attention. Don't wait for a second notice.

The Sinking of The Titanic

Here was a vessel which embodied men's greatest skill and ingenuity in ship building, starting out on her maiden voyage across the ocean. Her builders, her captain, her crew and every passenger had absolute faith in the staunchness of this great ship; but there was over-assurance, and because of this, carelessness, not enough life boats were provided. The last orders from the bridge of the Titanic before she made her final plunge into the mighty ocean was "WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST"

The sea of life is no less perilous; filled with as many icebergs and obstacles; human life is as uncertain as the voyage of the Titanic. Take warning—provide life boats. Modern society has no more staunch life boats than those provided by a life insurance policy with the

Examine the jaw or molar teeth of your horses and mules. Note the sharp, long and uneven grinding surface and this will readily explain the unthriftiness of such animals.

Have the surface of the teeth made to an even bearing so the food can be thoroughly masticated and put in a proper condition for digestion. Note the change in the animal's condition in general and you will be convinced of the great necessity of this much neglected duty.

No money will give larger returns than that spent in keeping your horses' teeth in the proper condition.

ALL ARE BENEFITED

A young man upon being asked why he did not open a bank account said: "Oh, banks are for rich people." "No," said his adviser, "it is quite the reverse; it is true that the banks help the wealthy man because without them he could not handle his money but they help the poor man to make and save his money. His meagre deposits, made while he is at the foot of the ladder, are safely preserved for him. After he has shown himself to be a saver and has established himself at the bank, they loan him money with which to make more money. The bank helps the wealthy man take care of his money, but it helps the poor man MAKE his."

CHAPTER XVII.

Last Call for Breakfast.

It was still Iowa when Mallory awoke. Into his last moments of heavy sleep intruded a voice like a towncrier's voice, crying:

"Lass call for breakfast in the dining car," and then, again louder, "Lass call for breakfast in the dining car," and, finally and faintly, "Lass call breakfast r'lar."

Mallory pushed up his window-shade. The day was broad on rolling prairies like billows established in the green soil. He peeked through his curtains. Most of the other passengers were up and about, their beds hidden and beddings stowed away behind the belying veneer of the upper-works of the car. All the berths were made up except his own and number two, in the corner, where Little Jimmie Wellington's nose still played in languid melody, and one other berth, which he recognized as Marjorie's.

His belated sleep and hers had spared them both the stares and laughing chatter of the passengers. But this bridal couple's two berths, standing like towers among the seats, had provided conversation for everybody, had already united the casual group of strangers into an organized gossip-bee.

Mallory got into his shoes and as much of his clothes as was necessary for the dash to the washroom, and took on his arm the rest of his wardrobe. Just as he issued from his lonely chamber, Marjorie appeared from hers, much disheveled and heavy-eyed. The bride and groom exchanged glances of mutual terror, and hurried in opposite directions.

The spiciest and spinnest of flatterers soon realized that he was reduced to wearing yesterday's linen as well as yesterday's beard. This was intolerable. A brave man can endure heartbreaks, loss of love, honor and place, but a neat man cannot abide the traces of time in his toilet. Lieutenant Mallory had seen rough service in camp and on long hikes, when he gloried in mud and disorder, and he was to see campaigns in the Philippines, when he should not take off his shoes or his uniform for three days at a time. But that was the field, and this car was a drawing room.

In this crisis in his affairs, Little Jimmie Wellington waddled into the men's room, loundering about with every lurch of the train, like a cannon loose in the hold of a ship. He fumbled with the handles on a basin, and made a crazy toilet, trying to find some abatement of his fever by filling a glass at the ice-water tank and emptying it over his head.

These drastic measures restored him to some sort of coherency, and Mallory appealed to him for help in the matter of linen. Wellington effusively offered him everything he had, and Mallory selected from his store half a dozen collars, any one of which would have gone round his neck nearly twice.

Wellington also proffered his safety razor, and made him a present of a virgin wafer of steel for his very own. With this assistance, Mallory was enabled to make himself fairly presentable. When he returned to his seat, the three curtained rooms had been whisked away by the porter. There was no place now to hide from the passengers.

He sat down facing the feminine end of the car, watching for Marjorie. The passengers were watching for her, too, hoping to learn what unheard-of incident could have provoked the quarrel that separated a bride and groom at this time, of all times.

To the general bewilderment, when Marjorie appeared, Mallory and she rushed together and clasped hands with an ardor that suggested a desire for even more ardent greeting. The passengers almost sprained their ears to hear how they would make up such a dreadful feud. But all they heard was: "We'll have to hurry, Marjorie. If we want to get any breakfast."

"All right, honey. Come along."

Then the inscrutable couple scurried up the aisle, and disappeared in the corridor, leaving behind them a mighty riddle. They kissed in the vestibule, kissed in the two corridors of the next car, and were caught kissing in the next vestibule by the new conductor.

The dining car conductor, who flattered himself that he knew a bride and groom when he saw them, escorted them grandly to a table for two; and the waiter fluttered about them with extraordinary consideration.

was for the baggage car, till she realized that Snoozeleums might be unwilling to attend. Then she swung round to the vestibule, but Mallory shifted to the observation platform.

Marjorie had left Snoozeleums with Mrs. Temple, who promised to hide him when the new conductor passed through the car, and she reminded Harry to get the waiter to bring them a package of bones for their only "child," so far.

On the way back from the dining car they kissed each other good-bye again at all the trying places they had sanctified before. The sun was radiant, the world good, and the very train ran with jubilant rejoicing. They could not doubt that a few more hours would see them legally man and wife.

Mallory restored Marjorie to her place in their car, and with smiles of assurance, left her for another parson-nut through the Irish. She waited for him in a bridal agitation; he ransacked the train forward in vain, and returned, passing Marjorie with a shake of the head, and a sour countenance. He went out to the observation platform where he stumbled on Ira Lathrop and Anne Gattle, engaged in a conversation of evident intimacy, for they jumped when he opened the door, as if they were guilty of some plot.

Mallory mumbled his usual, "Excuse me," whirled on his heel, and dragged his discouraged steps back through the Observation Room, where various women and a few men of evident materially were draped across arm chairs and absorbed in lazy conversation or hobnobbing their heads over magazines that trembled with the motion of the train.

Mrs. Wellington was hushed writing at the desk, but he did not know who she was, and he did not care whom she was writing to. He did not observe the baleful glare of Mrs. Whitcomb, who sat watching Mrs. Wellington, knowing all too well who she was, and suspecting the correspondent—Mrs. Whitcomb was tempted to spell the word with one "r."

Mallory stumbled into the men's portion of the composite car. Here he needed with a sickly cheer to the sole occupant, Dr. Temple, who was looking less ministerial than ever in an embroidered skull cap. The old rascal was sitting far back on his lumbar vertebrae. One of his hands clasped a long glass filled with a liquid of a hue that resembled something stronger than what it was—mere ginger ale. The other hand toyed with a long black cigar. The smoke curled round the old man's head like the fumes of a sultan's narghile, and through the wisps his face was one of Oriental luxury.

Mallory's eyes were caught from this picture of beatitude by the entrance, at the other door, of a man who had evidently swung aboard at the most recent stop—for Mallory had not seen him. His gray hair was crowned with a soft black hat, and his spare frame was swathed in a frock coat that had seen better days. His soft gray eyes seemed to search timidly the smoke-clouded atmosphere, and he had a bashful air which Mallory translated as one of diffidence in a place where liquors and cigars were dispensed.

With equal diffidence Mallory advanced and in a low tone accosted the newcomer cautiously:

"Excuse me—you look like a clergyman."

"The hell you say!"

Mallory pursued the question no further.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tanner and son, Hugh, will spend the summer in Winchester with relatives at their home at 27 Washington street. They were guests of Mr. Jas. Younger at West Point last Friday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tanner leave friends in Cloverport who are glad to have known them. They took an active and earnest interest in social, church and public life in this city. They will return to Irvington in the early fall at the opening of the school term.

For Women Who Care

Of course you use an antiseptic in your family and in the care of your own person, and you want the best.

Instead of what you have been using such as liquid or tablet antiseptics or peroxide, won't you please try Paxtine, a concentrated antiseptic powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

Paxtine is more economical, more cleansing, more germicidal and more healing than anything you ever used.

Paxtine

ANTISEPTIC

In the toilet—to cleanse and whiten the teeth, remove tartar and prevent decay. To disinfect the mouth, destroy disease germs, and purify the breath. To keep artificial teeth and bridgework clean and odorless. To remove nicotine from the teeth and purify the breath after smoking. To eradicate perspiration odors by sponge bathing.

As a medicinal agent for local treatment of feminine ills where pelvic catarrh, inflammation and ulceration exist, nothing equals hot douches of Paxtine. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. has been regularly advising their patients to use it because of its extraordinary cleansing, healing and germicidal power. For this purpose alone Paxtine is worth its weight in gold. Also for nasal catarrh, sore throat, inflamed eyes, cuts and wounds. All druggists, 25 and 50 cents a box. Trial box and testimony of 31 women free on request.

NATHAN STRAUS HOME

Thought He Would Find Perfect Christian Love Abroad—Proud Of His Brother's And Sister's Example On The Titanic.

Nathan Straus and his wife arrived home by the Caronia last night after an absence in Europe and Palestine of nearly four months. Mr. Straus appeared much fatigued and showed the effects of the illness that overcame him in Palestine in the first week in April and prevented his being present on April 15 at the seventh international congress against tuberculosis in Rome, to which he was sent by President Taft as the senior American delegate.

Mr. Straus was in Rome when he was informed of the deaths of his brother, Isidor Straus and Mrs. Straus, in the Titanic disaster. Those who were with him at the pier last night said that he had dreaded the homecoming because of the unavoidable revival of the thoughts of the tragedy. He left the pier immediately and was driven to his home. In response to questions he said:

"There is such a shadow of sorrow hanging over my heart that I am not in a condition to talk. But I want to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks for the overwhelming tokens of sympathy which have poured forth from all parts of the world. The one gleam of consolation I find in the darkness is the thought that it was a Jew and a Jewess who gave to the world this example of self-sacrifice, heroism and mutual love."

"I have always heard a good deal of Christian love, but it is too often found wanting. I thought that by going to Palestine to the fountainhead I should surely find it. I return more bewildered than ever in the mutual hatred of the believers in the various creeds."

"Turkish soldiers of the Moslem faith guard the Holy Sepulchre to keep the peace between the Greek Church and Roman, while these same Christians unite in persecuting the race from which their Saviour sprang. 'Love one another' went forth the mandate from Jerusalem, and how pitifully has it been forgotten. Will it ever be thus?"

"In the Titanic tragedy all creeds were at least united in the brotherhood of death. If one could only hope for a brotherhood of life! Why wait for death to teach us the lesson of human fraternity?"—New York Sun, May 30

SENATOR NIXON DIES AFTER OPERATION

Christian Science Fails--His Wife Dismissed Surgeons When They Said Her Husband Would Die--Senators Called.

HEALERS IN FULL CHARGE

Washington, June 5.—George S. Nixon, United States Senator from Nevada, died to-night at the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital of meningitis, induced by blood poisoning, following an operation for a nasal abscess. Christian Science was invoked to-day by his family in an effort to save his life after the attending surgeon had expressed the opinion that he could not recover.

Mrs. Nixon left San Francisco yesterday morning on the Overland Limited by the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific for Washington. At Reno she was joined by her son. They cannot possibly reach Washington before Friday night. Meanwhile efforts were made to prolong the Senator's life until their arrival.

Mrs. Nixon wired to Washington to-day directing the authorities at the hospital to excuse the attending surgeons and commit her husband to Christian Science treatment.

This fact was made known to some of Senator Nixon's colleagues in the Senate to-day. Two Senators, Works of California and Clapp of Minnesota, are Christian Scientists and regular attendants at the First Church in Washington. It was through them that arrangements were made through a Washington church for healers to minister to Senator Nixon.

William S. Campbell of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, admitted to-day that he had charge of Senator Nixon's case, assisted by two other members of the faith, whose names he declined to disclose.

Senator Works of California made a public avowal of his faith in the efficacy of Christian Science healing in a speech in the Senate a few months ago. He said he came to accept the faith after his wife had been restored to health following years of sickness which physicians were unable to conquer by medical treatment. He added that his son, a victim of Intemperance, was reclaimed through Christian Science and was now making a success in his profession.

The Senator was operated on last Thursday. Previously he had been in good health to all appearances. The operation was regarded as a simple one, but the surgeons say it had been postponed too long. On Saturday night, Cloverport, Like Every City And Town In The Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but not permanently. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is proof of merit from this vicinity.

Henry Nali, Hartford, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for about a year and have found them to be an excellent remedy for kidney complaint. I had pains in my back and in my sides. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box and they did me a world of good. I can therefore recommend them to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

The above is not an isolated case. Mr. Nali is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Nali had, 50c all stores. WIFE'S HEALTH RESTORED

Husband Declared Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Would Restore Her Health, And It Did.

Ashland, Ky. — "Four years ago I seemed to have everything the matter with me. I had female and kidney trouble and was so bad off I could hardly rest day or night. I doctored with all the best doctors in town and took many kinds of medicine but nothing did any good until I tried your wonderful remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband said it would restore my health and it has."

Mrs. MAY WYATT, Ashland, Ky.

There are probably hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefitted by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read What Another Woman Says: Camden, N. J. — "I had female trouble and a serious displacement and was tired and discouraged and unable to do my work. My doctors told me I never could be cured without an operation, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am cured of that affliction and have recommended it to more than one of my friends with the best results."

following the operation, Senator Nixon's case took an unfavorable turn. There were symptoms of toxic poisoning. He became unconscious on Sunday and remained so until his death. On Monday the attending surgeon diagnosed his symptoms as spinal meningitis.

At 6 o'clock this evening the Senator's symptoms became alarming, and it was evident that his life was prolonged solely by his remarkable vitality and strong heart action.

Arrangements for the funeral will probably be withheld until the arrival of Mrs. Nixon and her son.

Senator Nixon had served one term in the Senate and began his second term March 4, 1911. He was a Republican and had identified himself throughout his Senatorship with the regular wing of his party organization in the Senate. He supported President Taft for renomination against Col. Roosevelt and succeeded in carrying Nevada for Mr. Taft. The Governor of Nevada, Tasker L. Oddie, is a Roosevelt Republican and made the fight against Senator Nixon to get a Roosevelt delegation from Nevada, but lost.

Buy An IHC Spreader From Your Local Dealer

BEYOND doubt a good manure spreader is a necessity on every farm. Every live farmer has asked himself—"Which spreader is best?" "Why is it best?" and "Where can I buy that spreader?"

The answer to these questions is—buy an IHC spreader from your local dealer.

The fertility of your soil depends as much on proper distribution as on the manure itself. Settle the manure spreader question once for all. See the local dealer and buy an

IHC Manure Spreader Kemp 20th Century Corn King or Cloverleaf

The IHC local dealer will show you good spreader construction and explain why it is good. When you buy your spreader from him, he will set it up for you, show you how to adjust it, start you off right, and be right there all the time to take care of any future needs. Study fertility; learn why a good spreader is good. Buy an IHC spreader from your local dealer—that is the beginning of the most profitable farming.

In Memoriam.

Whereas, An All-Wise God has in the exercise of His inscrutable wisdom seen fit to remove from our midst our beloved member, Sister Mary Jane Gibson, in the prime and strength of mature womanhood, she being sixty-six years, nine months and ten days of age, when the brittle cord of life was suddenly severed on Tuesday, May 7, 1912 at the home of her niece, Mrs. Tom Robertson. And,

Whereas, Though we do not understand this act of Divine Providence, yet we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well. And,

Whereas, Our beloved Sister was for so many years an active and faithful member of our Missionary Society, we shall feel the more keenly our loss, yet we recognize that what to us is a loss is to her a gain, for of her it may be truly said,

"Life's race well run,
Life's work well done,
Life's crown well won,
Now comes rest."

Therefore be it resolved First, That we, The Ladies Missionary Society of the Cloverport Baptist Church, do extend our heartfelt sympathy to the children and grand-children who are thus bereft in the taking of their much loved and devoted mother, And,

Second, That a full page be set apart in our minute book for the recording of these resolutions, that a copy be furnished to each of the children, and a copy be given the Breckenridge News for publication.

"Teddy's Bulldog"

Companion To Houn'.

Chicago, June 6.—Nine members of the clerical staff of the national Roosevelt headquarters, who arrived in Chicago, yesterday from New York and Washington, stirred up the "Indians" in the Congress hotel with a companion ditty to the democratic houn' dawg song. They proclaimed it "Teddy's bulldog," and sang it on the way to the station. It runs this way to the tune of "Casey Jones."

Teddy's gotta dawg, but he ain't no hound,
He's a square jawed bull, and his face is round;
His legs is short, and he's close to the ground,
And you bet they ain't kickin' Teddy's dawg around.

CHORUS

Square jawed bull, and his face is round,
Square jawed bull, and he ain't no hound;
Short legged bull, close to the ground,
And you bet they ain't kickin' Teddy's bull around.

II.

The Democratic dawg, the unlucky hound
That the boys have all been kickin' round,
Is the same old dawg that's been stickin' 'round'
Since old Abe Lincoln came to Washington town.
